RAIL CENTERS ARE BOMBED AT NIGHT

By JOHN E. LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 29.—Strong forces of Marauders and Havocs of the Ninth U. S. Air Force today attacked four bridges in northern France and Belgium, including one crossing the Meuse at Liege Val Benoit, and an airfield at Archet, north of Paris.

Thunderbolts furnished protection on the raids as the German radio claimed 60 American planes, including 55 four-engine bombers, had been shot down in fierce fighting over the Reich, and Nazi radio warnings indicated another possible attack on Berlin.

Allied information regarding the air battles was slow in coming through.

The daylight sweeps followed heavy night assaults by Royal Air Force bombers against the railroad center of Angers in northwest France, the German chemical center of Ludwigshafen and military installations on the French invasion coast.

The air ministry said Angers, 50 miles from Paris, was hit by a heavy bomber force.

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, May 29.—American infantrymen, strongly supported by Allied aircraft, and warships, drove forward today on Biak Island, off the northwest coast of Dutch New Guinea, toward the Mokmer airdrome against stiff Japanese resistance.

The advance on Mokmer, one of three important airfields which will place Allied planes within 900 miles of the Philippines, was pressed after the Yanks consolidated their positions in Bosnek village where a beachhead was established by the assault troops.

Heavy aircraft sent into action to support the ground advance pummeled Jap coastal targets with 288 tons of high explosives. They knocked out gun positions and other enemy strongpoints.

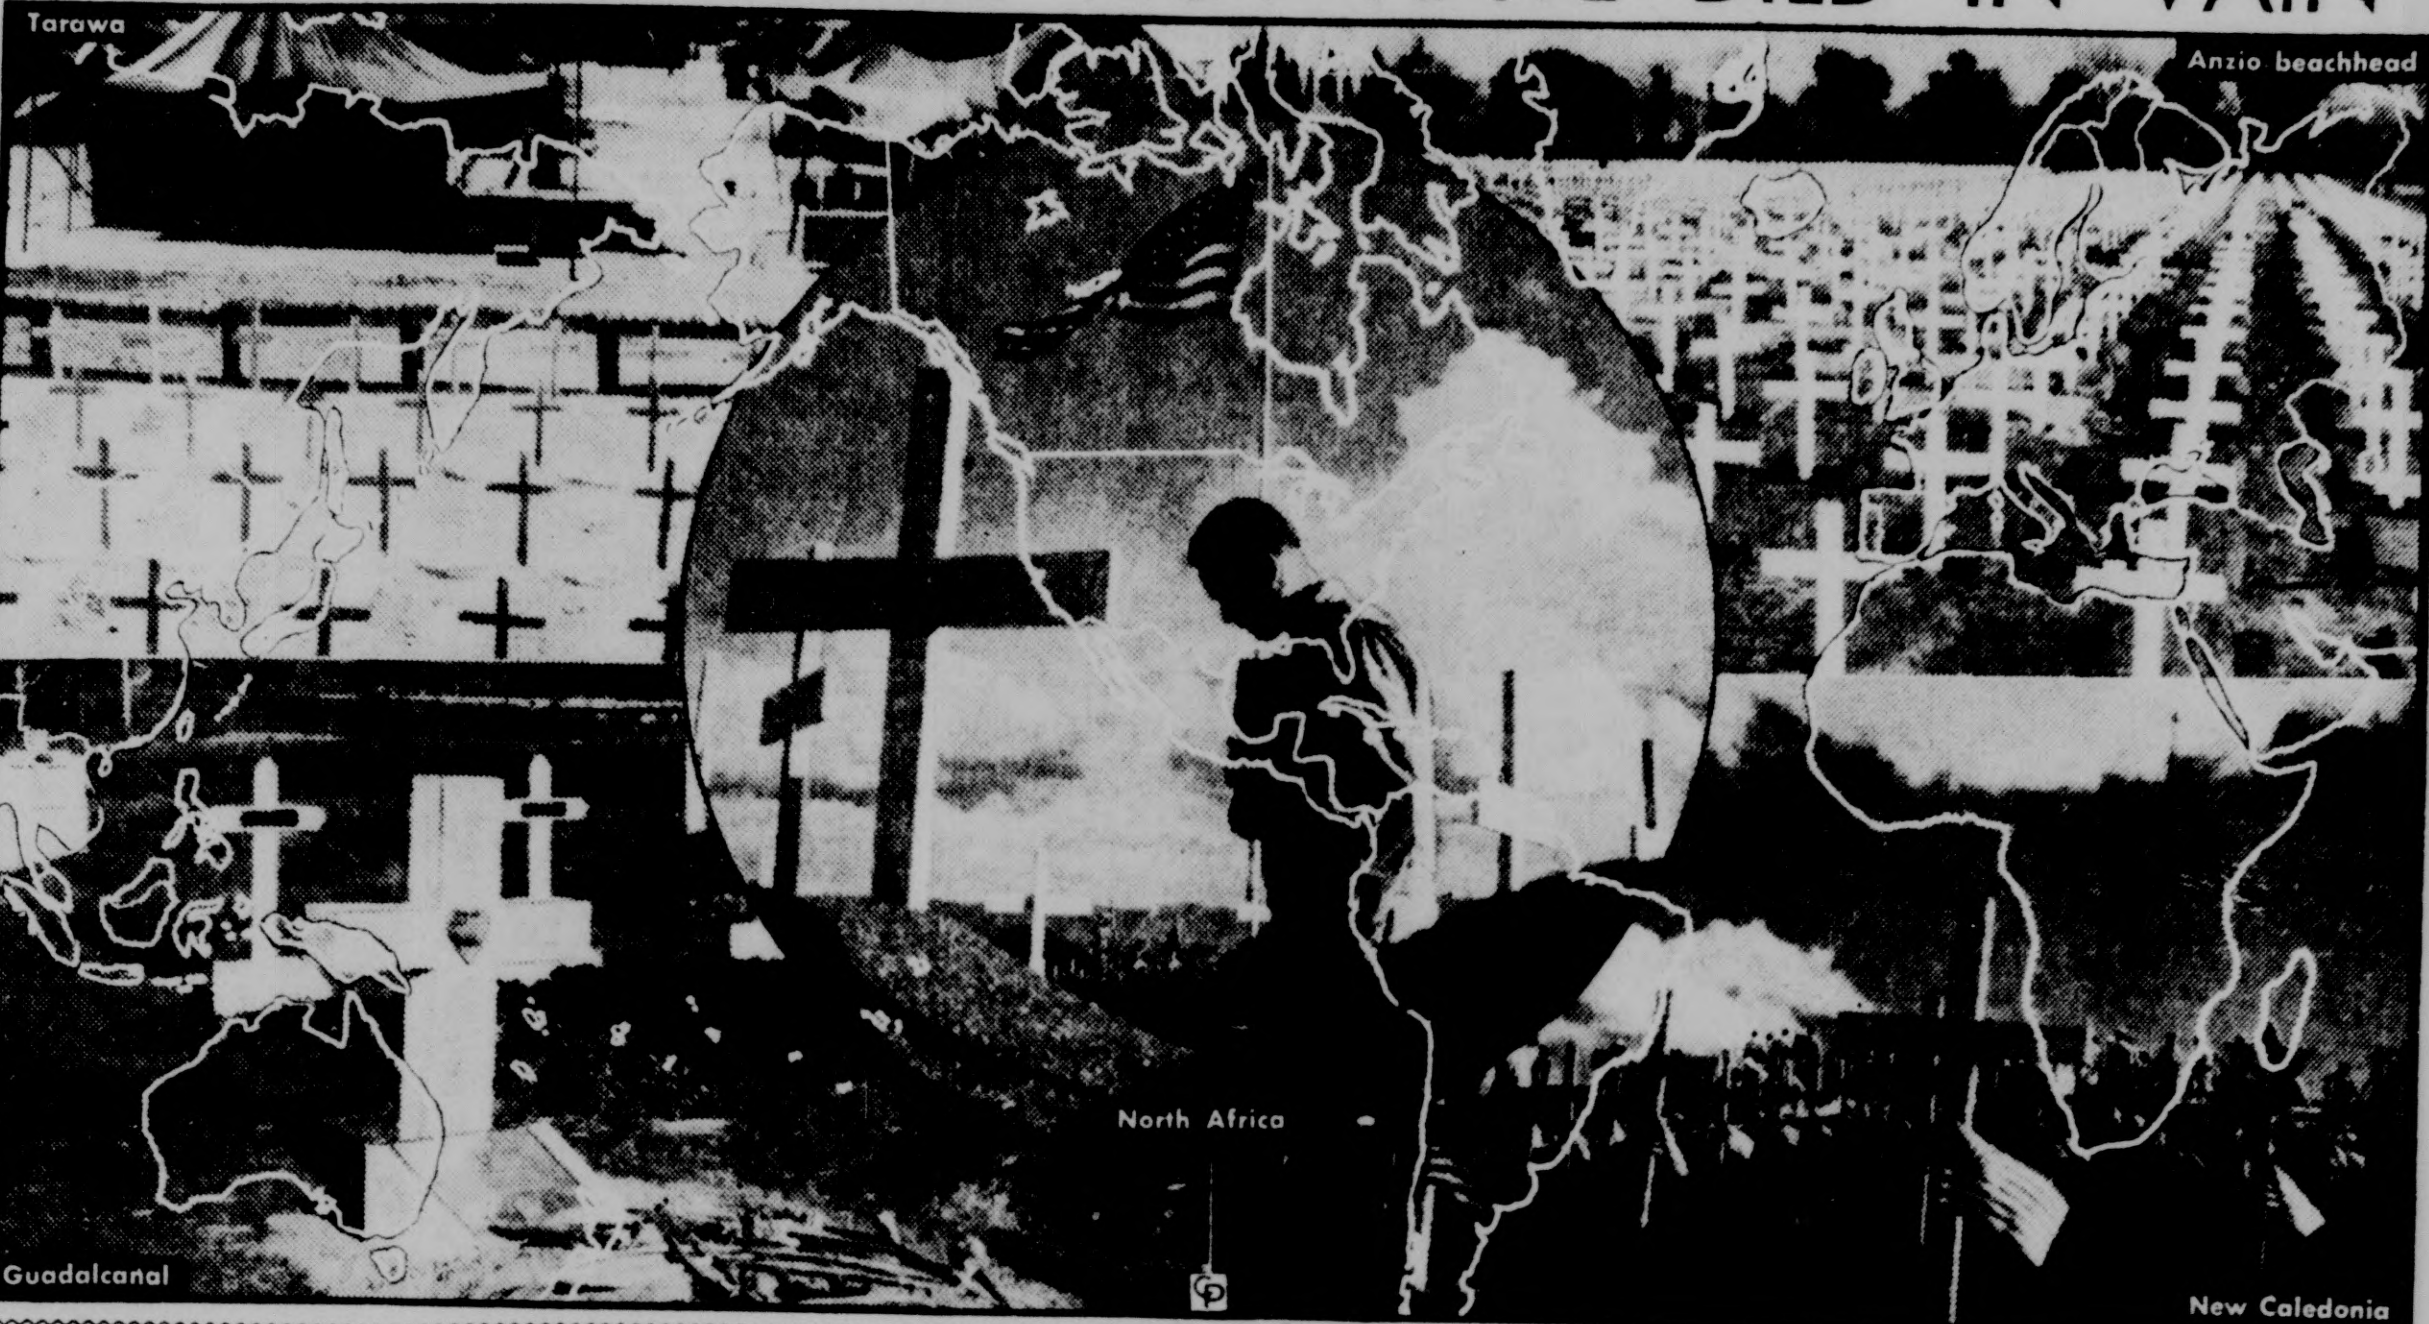

Hammer Airfield

Attack planes at the same time hammered defenses at the Mokmer field while fighters carried out strafing assaults in the battle area.

Governors Of Nation Meet

Governor Dewey's Status As
G. O. P. Candidate Is Center Of Interest

POSTWAR PLANS ARE CONSIDERED

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HERSHEY, Pa., May 29.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's willingness to accept a Republican draft nomination for president was the center of interest today as the "non-political" 36th annual governors' conference got down to business at this picturesque Pennsylvania resort.

Still adamantly "unannounced," the New York governor highlighted informal political discussion with a statement that he had done nothing to discourage support for him as a draft nominee four weeks from now.

Sharing the campaign stage with him as Governor Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts opened the conference with a message from President Roosevelt, were Governors John W. Bricker of Ohio and Earl Warren of California. All three were scheduled to make important speeches before the 36 attending governors.

Bricker remained the only executive openly running for a place on the 1948 GOP ticket.

Refuses To Be Smoked Out

Although he refused to be "smoked out" on direct questions by newsmen as to whether he will take a presidential nomination in Chicago next month, Dewey admitted that reports he had corralled sufficient delegates was "beyond the stage of rumor."

"What are you doing to discourage that talk?" he was asked. "Nothing," the governor replied without hesitation.

War and postwar problems provided the basis of discussion for the four-day conference which tonight will have Dewey as its principal speaker.

American-Chinese Forces Penetrate Part Of Myitkyina

KANDY, Ceylon, May 29.—(INS)—A communiqué from Admiral Louis Mountbatten's headquarters reported today that American-Chinese forces penetrated into the southern part of Myitkyina, in northern Burma.

A Chungking radio report heard by the FCC yesterday said Sino-American forces of Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell had reached the southern end of the Japanese stronghold of Myitkyina in an advance of 1,000 yards. Another group had stabbed toward the southeast section of the city.

Chinese troops have taken the village of Sharaw, north of Kamaing.

Chindit forces, however, have withdrawn to a position on the enemy communication line southwest of Mogauing.

British troops, continued the communiqué, gained all first objectives in an attack on Araduraspit, south of Kohima in eastern India.

Seek To Avoid Street Fighting In City Of Rome

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS)—The outflanking movements by the British Eighth Army on the Italian front partly are designed to avoid street fighting in Rome, where destruction to religious and cultural buildings might result, the British radio said today, quoting correspondents at Allied general headquarters.

Allied shelling of the Via Cassilina (highway six) is so terrific that the Germans are finding it virtually impossible and are using a second road to the east, London added. The broadcast was heard by NBC.

German Thrust Against Soviet Forces Repulsed

MOSCOW, May 29.—(INS)—A reconnaissance thrust by the Germans in the Tiraspol sector of the Bessarabian front was beaten off with heavy losses to the Nazis, the Soviet high command reported today.

The fighting reconnaissance was reported in a communiqué which again said no important changes had taken place along the extensive battlefield.

The Germans in their attack northwest of Tiraspol failed even to reach the outer edge of the Soviet defenses before they were forced into disorderly retreat by Russian mortar and machine-gun fire.

Northward in the Vitebsk sector the Germans made a futile attempt to recapture a height recently taken by the Soviets. Here, too, a Nazi attack from several directions was broken up by mortar and machine-gun fire and 230 Nazis were left dead on the battlefield.

Ships of the Red banner Baltic fleet, on patrol near an island in the Gulf of Finland, spotted and sank a German submarine, the high command said.

Bombers Make Poland Raids

By JOHN E. LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 29.—(INS)—American heavy bombers in large force attacked fighter aircraft factories in Poland and Germany today.

The fighters included Lightnings Mustangs and Thunderbolts.

Kresing is five miles southeast of Poznan. Tutow is southeast of Rostock. Anklam, Cottbus is 95 miles southeast of Berlin. Sorau is 130 miles southeast of the German capital.

VETERANS HONOR DEAD OF ALL WARS

Veterans of three wars gathered Sunday afternoon to honor their dead, and those of the wars which have preceded theirs in the 76th observance of Memorial Day in this city. Ideal weather prevailed and there was a large number in the parade with many spectators lining the streets and taking part in the program on the Diamond, which culminated the day's exercises. Observance of the day will be wound up by a visitation of veterans to the various schools of the city today.

The customary parade to Greenwood cemetery where a large number of the city's soldier dead are buried in a special plot, found many members of the veterans organization participating in addition to a large representation from civic and fraternal societies. Boy and Girl Scouts were also in the lineup together with a large group of uniformed Red Cross women and the Gaeles, who made their usual colorful appearance.

Schwensberg Marshal

The parade was headed by members of the 16th infantry, Pennsylvania State Guard, with their crack new band, directed by Joe F. Replogle.

Many veterans of World War Two, who have been discharged from service, took part in the program, the chief marshal being Gene Schwensberg, with William Dean and William Fehl as aides, all of (Continued On Page Two)

Flags Mark 2,847 Graves In County

Graves Of Men Who Served Nation Are Marked For Memorial Day

Cemeteries of the county are beautiful with flowers and plants for Memorial Day again this year, but to the beauty of the flowers is added that of American flags waving over the graves of those who have served their country in time of need. In all there are 2,847 flags marking such graves in the cemeteries in the various parts of the county.

Each year the flags are secured by the registrar of graves for the county, a Lewis County, and distributed through various patriotic organizations. In many cases the flag is the only decoration added to the bronze marker which signifies the war in which the deceased served man or woman had a part.

This year there are new graves marked with flags, the graves of men who have died within the confines of the nation in the present war. Not all of those who have died are buried here, for their graves are scattered from the isles of the Pacific to the hilly slopes of Italy. In all, 91 Lawrence county men (Continued On Page Two)

School Sunday Night

GRADUATION WILL OCCUR TONIGHT

Baccalaureate services for the June division of the class of 1944 of New Castle senior high school, that will be graduated this evening were held Sunday evening in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Seniors in caps and gowns entered the well-filled auditorium and took their places to the music of the organ processionals, "War March of the Priests." Heading the processionals was Miss Janet Brenneisen, faculty adviser of the class.

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, delivered the baccalaureate sermon. His challenging and inspiring message had as its subject, "Are Ye Able?" The text was from the tenth chapter of the Gospel of Mark, verses 35 through 45. "We must be willing to pay the price if we desire to render the most valuable service," was the thought Dr. Bennett stressed. He urged a more vital faith in our government, confidence in our social and economic institutions and above all, a strong faith in God.

Rev. Thornton Aids

Substituting for his father, who is pastor of Epworth Methodist church, Rev. W. George Thornton, of Watford, assisted at the baccalaureate service with the invocation, Scripture reading, prayer and benediction.

The seven hills of ancient Rome came within easy focus of binoculars in the hands of Allied officers and men today and barring an unexpected setback in the rapid Anglo-American drive for liberation of Italy the fate of the eternal city will be decided before this week is over.

Vital communication routes some 16 to 18 miles from the capital were severed and numerous enemy strong-points overrun, with Velletri and Valmontone, on opposite sides of the Lahan hills, the immediate objectives of the Allied offensive.

Three Divisions Annihilated
Virtual annihilation of three Nazi divisions possibly totalling 45,000 men placed German Field Marshal Albert Kesselring in an extraordinarily difficult position and there was continued reason to believe he will take the only sound strategic course open to him—abandonment of Rome without a battle in its streets.

Thus far no official announcement has come from Berlin that Rome will be defended to the last man. Adolf Hitler has not decreed a repetition of the disasters of Stalingrad, Odessa and Sevastopol. His continued silence, as a matter of fact, denotes that German military strategy has been taken out of his hands by the Prussian (Continued On Page Seven)

Bond Quotas Are Assigned

District totals for the Fifth War Bond Campaign were announced today by Judge W. Walter Braham, county chairman for the campaign. The county total is $7,010,000, about a five per cent increase over the 4th war loan.

The increases in the district totals are taken up in the quotas for New Castle and Ellwood City. New Castle's quota will be $5,155,000 and Ellwood City's $1,400,000. Both of these are increases over the 4th campaign.

Other district quotas which are the same as they were for the 4th loan follow: Bessemer, $180,000; New Wilmington, $125,000; Wampum, $90,000 and Volant, $80,000.

More Men Will See Navy Duty

HERSHEY, Pa., May 29.—(INS)—Maj. Gen. Louis B. Hershey, national director of selective service, emphasized today that "one half of the men called for service in the future will serve in the Navy."

Hershey, attending the 36th annual governors' conference at Hershey, explained that the rapid expansion of America's Navy made it necessary to channel more men into the service.

PA NEWC Observes

Don't neglect to put out the flag for Memorial Day.

Severe storm that was noted moving around the city Saturday evening evidently centered in Lowellville, just across the state line, according to reports to Pa. News.

New state license tags must be on all autos on Thursday morning, the two months extension granted expiring on May 31.

New Castle's formal observance of Memorial day took place on Sunday, so that there will be only informal observance of the holiday on Tuesday.

New Castle police were on the job Sunday afternoon detouring auto traffic from the public square in all directions during the time and the memorial program was in progress on the square.

Locus trees in the area are in full bloom at the present time.

Weed cutting along the sidewalks and on highways will have to be started earlier than usual this summer. Weeds have been growing at a phenomenal rate this month due to the rains and warm weather.

Cemeteries in this vicinity were visited by many residents on Sunday and over the week end, as Memorial day decorations were placed on many plots.

If you thought bananas were supposed to be rather scarce, look around at the bunches hanging in New Castle grocery stores. Most of them are green—decidedly green.

Report 14,000 Planes Attack In Sixty Hours

By JOHN E. LEE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 29—(INS)—The number of American and British bombers and fighter planes in operation against Nazi Europe during the last 60 hours reached the stupendous total of almost 14,000 separate aircraft today when a giant two-pronged daylight assault was made against targets in Germany, Poland and Austria.

Reliable estimates said that 3,500 British-based planes operated during the daylight hours alone, plus another 1,500 which went out from bases in Italy against airbases and aircraft factories at Wiener Neustadt near Vienna.

Between Saturday morning and last night when the Royal Air Force wound up its week-end raids, between 9,000 and 10,000 planes of all sizes and descriptions ranged out from airfields in the British Isles against objectives in Europe.

The cycle of unbroken attack was extended into the afternoon hours when Typhoon bombers carrying rocket projectiles assaulted an enemy-operated power station in northern France.

Factories In Austria Hit

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS Italy May 29—(INS)—Strong forces of heavy bombers today raided the Wiener Neustadt airplane factories in Austria.

Between 500 and 750 four-motored planes participated, blasting two separate aircraft plants and two airbases.

Intense and heavy anti-aircraft was encountered at Wiener Neustadt, a major Austrian industrial city just south of Vienna. A "considerable number" of enemy aircraft were encountered.

Other American Liberator bombers cooperating with Marshal Tito's forces in Yugoslavia carried out two major missions against German troop concentrations.

have died in the present war, many of them battle casualties, others by accident and still others of disease.

Those who are buried in lands occupied by the United Nations forces undoubtedly have a flag marking their resting place, just as their comrades in arms buried in this country do. For all of them there is no distinction in rank or service, all of them have the same mark of respect, the highest that can be paid them, the American flag.

"Must I keep used fats in a cool, dark place?"

THE ANSWER IS "No" Keep the can on the back of the stove where it's always handy—always ready to receive scrapings, skimmings, drippings, as you cook and clean up. Sure, the warmth will keep the grease melted, but then when the can is full, set it in the ice-box to get firm.

MAKE IT AS EASY for yourself as you can to save as much fat as you can. Every drop is urgently needed to make munitions, battlefield medicines and for other vital materials. No amount is too small; none too black or smelly to be of use. Save it in any kind of tin can, and when the can is full, hurry it to your butcher. GOVERNORS OF NATION MEET layed through Governor Saltonstall, who is conference chairman, congratulated the states for their "effective unified action" in war time.

Saltonstall, opposing too much state reliance upon government aid, declared that "we want our country to be governed from the bottom up and not from the top down."

Gov. Henry F. Schriker of Indiana told the conference at its opening business session that the threat of widespread postwar unemployment would be better met through a "locally financed public works program" than through "reliance in a federal dole."

Postwar Public Works

Gov. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island recommended the creation of a postwar public works fund to be administered by the Federal Reserve bank or such federal agency as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The 36 governors, three state representatives and Governor Charles Harwood of the Virgin Islands, were officially welcomed by Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, host for the conference.

But the Republican convention preview of candidates and potential candidates was dominated by the political stinging of Dewey and Bricker. Firing the first gun, Bricker challenged all "candidates" to make an open campaign like his own and took a positive stand against two foreign policy views voiced by Dewey.

He declared he is opposed to international military alliances and sees no need for a world police force. Dewey in reply said that he would stand on what he said at Mackinac Island last September when he endorsed a military alliance with Great Britain. Subsequently, he revised this to command a "durable cohesion" between the United States, Great Britain and the "hoped," Russia and China.

Beyond stating that he agreed with Bricker that all "candidates" should come out in the open, the New York governor declined to participate in any pre-convention debate with the Ohioan. He made it clear that officially or otherwise his position "remains entirely unchanged" on where he stands in the presidential race.

U. S. FORCES ARE DRIVING AHEAD ON BIAK ISLAND

Allied surface craft also were attacked and anti-aircraft fire from the vessels brought down four of 12 raiders.

The hop to Biak Island made the plight of Japs in the Wadke-Samudra area of Dutch New Guinea more desperate. The Japs were said to be losing men by the hundreds through starvation and ceaseless Allied patrol thrusts.

Large numbers of Japs also were meeting the same fate all the way along the north New Guinea coast from Hollandia eastward to the Wewak area. Throughout this sector American airmen continued to harass the Japs, bombing and strafing any enemy groups sighted.

Light naval units joined the airmen by shelling Jap positions in the vicinity of Mafin airbase. Aircraft planes pounded enemy positions along the Mowwa river and other hampered trapped garrisons from but to the Sepik river.

whom saw active service and who have been discharged because of the disabilities they incurred.

C. Ed Brown, Spanish War Veteran, was general chairman of the day's program, and the various sub-chairmen had arranged one of the finest observances seen in many years.

At Greenwood cemetery, the ritualistic services of the American Legion Veterans of Foreign Wars and Spanish War veterans were presented, with the memorial prayer being given by Peter McGinty of the Marine Corps League.

The main address of the day was given at the program on the Diamond, following the return from the cemetery. Chairman Brown introduced George Hunt, commander of Neshannock Post V. F. W., as master of ceremonies. Attorney Robert McCree of Monaca, Beaver county, Legionnaire gave the address, recalling the sacrifices made by the men and women of this nation in all its wars and urging the folks on the home front to keep this in memory at all times.

Honor Deceased
The names of all veterans who have died during the past year were read by Clara B. Book, commander of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, and as the names were called, a wreath was placed on a mound on the platform, symbolic of the dead of that particular war. A wreath was also placed in memory of the veterans of the Civil War, the last of whom from Lawrence county has passed on.

The 16th Infantry band furnished the music for this program as well as the ceremonies at the cemetery, and established the reputation of being a crack musical organization.

Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarter, pastor of St. Mary's church, gave the invocation, and F. O. L. Hunt, pastor of the First Baptist church, the benediction. A firing quad from the 16th Infantry fired volleys at both services, with taps by a member of the band.

Past President Sam, sometime ago, asked Pres. L. Gov. Tom to make up a chart similar to the set-up used by the district in crediting the clubs on the various activities. This chart has been completed and will be displayed and explained by Tom at the meeting Wednesday, May 31.

Sunday, May 14, was designated as "I Am An American Day." It might be possible, time permitting that we will have something along this line.

Chairmen are requested to get in their reports Wednesday.

Victory gardeners are reminded of the meeting arranged for their benefit by the victory garden committee of the city on insect and disease control, which will take place on Thursday evening, June 1, at 8:30 o'clock in the Legion Home.

The speaker will be Dr. Henry Melichar, entomologist of Penn State college, who is an eminent authority on insects and plant disease. Any victory gardeners who have problems on insect or plant diseases are urged to bring them to this meeting.

This meeting is open to the general public. Chairman Charles G. Lindner of the city victory garden committee announces.

BRIDGES TARGETS FOR BOMBERS IN FRANCE, BELGIUM

miles northeast of Nantes had been heavily blasted by planes of the bomber command.

Ludwigshafen, in the Rhineland, serves the enemy both as a war production center and a communications point. Targets blasted along the French coast were not specified.

The bomber command craft also laid mines in enemy waters. Only one RAF plane failed to return.

Coastal observers at Folkestone on the Dover coast of England, said the daylight formations which streaked toward the continent were made up of strong squadrons of bombers and fighters.

The BBC recorded announcements stating that Allied planes were in the skies over Austria heading toward the lower Danube.

The Exchange Telegraph Company reported that the Vienna radio went off the air this morning after stating that Allied aircraft were approaching. German transmitters also said enemy planes were over central Germany.

Buildings Rocked On English Side
Formidable forces of British planes, possibly equal to or exceeding the more than 1,000 which operated against the continent only 24 hours before, struck out across the channel.

The explosions resulting from the assault rocked buildings and homes on the English side of the Dover Straits. The force of the attack indicated that the RAF had hammered military installations with blockbuster bombs. Persons on the English side said German anti-aircraft guns in France sent up a heavy barrage against the raiders.

Some Nazi raiders crossed over to England late in the night, but none appeared to have gone very far inland. The few craft which crossed to the southeast coast were met with sharp bursts of gunfire and driven away within a few minutes.

One bomb was dropped by a lone raider in one village and another on the outskirts of a south coast town. A few casualties were caused.

The continent yesterday was battered by some 5,000 Allied planes, mostly American craft which hammered synthetic oil plants, airfields and railroads. Fighters and Liberator bombers of the U. S. Eighth Air Force pounded targets near Cologne, in southwest Germany and in central Germany. The big bombers, 1,000 strong, were escorted by more than 1,200 fighters.

A total of 93 Nazi planes were knocked down in combat, 32 by the heavy bombers and 61 by fighters. American losses were 34 heavy bombers and 13 fighters.

CAT ADOPTS MOTHERLESS CHICKS

Moved by the chirps of a motherless chick, a Persian cat of the Mangrum family of Harvey, Ill. carried it to her own family of four kittens and now gives it a daily cat wash.

ON MEMORIAL DAY

Flowers alone can not express the gratitude in our hearts.

They are only a wordy expression of our feelings.

But deep in our hearts we have an everlasting memory that never will let us forget the boys that gave their all, that we here can live in plenty, freedom and comfort.

Did anyone else notice the cat sleeping in a box of tomato plants in front of a Washington street grocery store?

M. K. Gilliland, of Crawford Terrace, brought a beautiful specimen of the Ceroptia moth, the largest species of moths which are found in the eastern part of the United States, to the office of The News this morning. It was found crawling on his screen door this morning. This moth has a wing spread of seven inches, and is beautifully colored.

The crack 16th Infantry band, which is directed by Joe F. Replogle with J. D. Donati assistant director, made a tremendous hit with the crowd which attended yesterday's Memorial Day exercises here. They led the parade and furnished the music for the program at the cemetery and on the Diamond, and proved they are a high class musical organization.

Memorial Day

Memorial Day is a day of memories and from those memories America draws strength for the hard tasks of war. America is not essentially a remembering nation, coddling the past, but it does have an abiding gratitude for those who, in national crises of the past, offered everything to their country, not counting cost.

That gratitude is a guarantee of citizen morale today and evidence of the capacity of each generation to subordinate personal considerations to the welfare of the group.

How splendidly America has responded to every crisis. In the two wars with Britain America was on the defensive, hanging with resolution to a slender thread of hope which finally materialized triumphantly. The war with Mexico was an offensive masterpiece and proved the young nation's rising power.

The Civil War plunged every section into a fiery crucible from which it emerged chastened and unified. The few blows required to subdue effete Spain established America as a world power and the First World War ratified that ranking emphatically, with young Americans conceding the topnotch combatants of them all.

With every call to arms America answers enthusiastically and performs courageously and effectively. And as the past holds mighty deeds of America and its individual citizens, so the present is producing feats of equal valor to treasure as stones in the temple of victory that is being reared.

Not So Crabbed Age

Dean Swift once said that every man desires to live long, but no man would be old. Christopher Morley, the famous author, said in a commencement address at Skidmore college that by the inscrutable dispensation of biology, the young are always attractive. It is not impossible, he said, for older people to be attractive also, but they must rely on the cultivation of the mind rather than on mere pulchritude.

No one can deny that Mr. Morley has a creative mind. In his address, Mr. Morley (born May 8, 1890) said that the creative mind cared nothing for chronology, retained its most important attributes in the subconscious, was highly individualistic and was characterized by incredible rapidity.

Nor will anyone deny that Mr. Morley has to his credit some artistic achievements. In his address, Mr. Morley said that "most artistic achievements are accidents, and the really creative mind is the kind to which accidents happen and which is capable of recognizing the accident when it does happen."

A character in a play popular some years ago asserted that commencement addresses are growing worse year by year. If that is true, Mr. Morley's seems to be the exception.

Quartermaster's Job

Second only to the fighting men the army of supply won the battle of North Africa. A population equal to Baltimore was landed, carried hundreds of miles to the battlefield, and supplied with all the equipment necessary to assure victory. The North African campaign was a triumph of the quartermaster.

Railroads, highways and pipe lines, many of them constructed while the fighting at the front continued, brought up the shovels of war. American locomotives and freight cars shipped abroad carried goods not only for the soldiers but for the civilian population of North Africa. At the close of the campaign the French possessions along the southern shore of the Mediterranean had the best transport system in their history.

When the "second front" invasion of Europe starts this organization of supply will have to function just as smoothly, and under greater difficulties. The Nazis may be expected to make our lines of communication one of their first objects of attack; and as the roads must inevitably extend with our advance, the job of keeping them in running order grows.

Months before a soldier was landed in Africa the problem of supply was worked out by the military staffs. Our forces have not only to make a descent on European shores; they have to be given tons of supplies every day they stay there.

The quartermaster will not fail.

Fifth War Loan Drive Coming

"We must save on every front," G. Ruhland Rebmann Jr., state chairman of the War Finance Committee of Pennsylvania, said in a statement issued today. "The Fifth War Loan Drive which opens on June 12 will soon be facing us. The forces of the United Nations are grinding themselves for the coming invasion—at any moment we may expect to hear the news we are all awaiting so anxiously—that Germany has been invaded and our armies are marching victoriously on. The home front must and shall also be marching victoriously. Inflation is as great a threat to our country as are the forces of our enemies—it is our own personal enemy. We are piling up an enormous debt—there is no other way to finance this tremendous enterprise. But many of our people have allowed the natural desire for luxuries to interfere with what on second thought they should recognize as a clear call of duty. We must do our part for the boys who are giving their lives to protect our nation. Our first duty to them and to ourselves is to maintain the home front—to buy and keep more War Bonds.

"We must begin now to save money for the purchase of extra War Bonds during the drive. The more we sacrifice now of the things we think we would like to have but can easily do without, the more Bonds we can buy and the more money we will have to spend after it is all over when goods will be plentiful. We can be certain that prices will be kept down, only if we defer spending now and thus do our part to defeat inflation—the biggest enemy on our home front.

The Nazis in Italy are staging one of those disengaging movements as planned.

There may be a good reason why mother was a better cook than your bride. Maybe father supplied mother with a better grade of canned goods.

Only 600 Japanese have been taken prisoner since war began. Allies show no disposition to enter into competition with their ancestors.

A German Paul Revere will have to take a long breath and shout: "The British, Yanks, Russians, French, Canadians, Aussies, Indians, Dutch, Poles, Belgians, Senegalese and Serbs are coming."

One good reason for the government's taking over Montgomery Ward plant was overlooked by the New Dealers. The Washington bureaucrats are the only people who have enough paper to get out the catalogue.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Wallace's Trip

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Any of Henry Wallace's implacable enemies who still cherish the hope that he is being sent to China merely to get him out of the way politically had better give up the idea. His mission to Siberia and Chungking is far more important than anyone has said publicly.

For one thing, the Russians are going to show him their remarkable new industrial cities in Siberia. He was assured before he left Washington that he would be allowed to visit ten flourishing communities that no American has ever seen before.

In relation, of course, to the ultimate lineup for the final blow against Japan, these industrial centers may have great importance. When he flew back home across the top of the world, Wendell Wilkie visited one such community, Yakutsk, capital of the republic of Yakutsk. In his book, "One World," Wilkie gave a glowing account of this community of workers that had been carved out of the Siberian wilderness.

Will Report Fully

Wallace will be able to gauge the strength of this military-industrial potential. He will report fully on it on his return. This chore is in addition to his goodwill mission, which has other implications, too—to China.

The day before he left on the mission that will take him thousands of air miles across country, few Americans have ever seen, Wallace had an hour's talk with Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Neither man has disclosed the nature of their conversation, but it's a pretty safe guess that the question of the vice presidential nomination was at least mentioned. The background of this talk is interesting.

Hannegan, a professional politician, and a capable one, has been interested in finding a more acceptable candidate for second place on the fourth term ticket; acceptable, that is, to party henchmen who must get out the vote, and to southern conservatives. He thought that his job in the fall would be an easier one with a less controversial figure as a running mate for Roosevelt.

In the course of a discussion with the president, Hannegan is said to have intimated that in his opinion, Wallace was a political liability. FDR took issue with that judgment. His reply went something like this: "You will have to prove to me that Henry is a liability. And it will be difficult to convince me."

Suggest Hull

Alternates suggested by Hannegan included Secretary of State Hull, who ducked a similar suggestion in 1940, and Senator Harry S. Truman of Hannegan's own state, Missouri. Many of Truman's friends have been hopeful that second place would go in the final showdown to the chairman of the war investigating committee. The Missouri senator has in recent weeks increased his speech making activities, appearing on platforms in various parts of the country.

Apart from his excellent showing in the rolls, and the fact that organized labor, within the CIO at any rate, is pledged to him, Wallace has the loyalty of the president. FDR has an almost superstitious reluctance to part with those who have been his close associates. It would be very difficult for him to reject Wallace at the moment when he must decide on his running mate.

Nevertheless, there's still a chance he will be thrown to the southern wolves that now are baying for blood. The current threat of the little oligarchy which rules the south is apparently a real one.

Despite a popular vote for Roosevelt, the Democratic candidate, in the November election, electors chosen by the oligarchy might cast their vote for the southern wolves in the constitution would prevent them from doing so. It would, of course, be a step calculated to cause the utmost confusion and uncertainty at a critical time, tending to throw as much discredit as possible on the Democratic process which may be what the oligarchy wants.

Going off with his Russian grammar in his pocket, serious-minded Henry Wallace will return with a report which should be of vital interest to the country. His position as a candidate should be strengthened rather than weakened.

MAPLE SYRUP

Maple syrup is a good vehicle for getting a supply of sugar.

It has no vitamins but is strong on iron. It takes over a tablespoonful of it to supply 100 calories. Sometimes it gets pretty expensive. Then perhaps it is better to use some other kind of sweetener.

It tastes good on waffles or griddle cakes, and makes considerable nourishment and iron too.

It takes a lot of work to make maple syrup. The tapping of the trees must be done by hand. Then the sap has to be hauled to the boiling pans. After that it must be watched carefully until it has boiled down to the right consistency for syrup.

Years ago it was fun for the boys and girls to go to the sugar camp and have a party. Maple taffy and maple sugar were sweet.

The girls were sweeter yet.

We do not have "sugaring off" parties anymore, but we eat maple sugar sometimes and it tastes good.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:27. Sun rises tomorrow 5:27.

Now we hear when some gals apply for jobs the employer asks them if they drink or smoke. Oh, wam de doodle wam!

A local gal says she has quit looking for the ideal man. She says she is entirely too busy looking for a husband.

A dentist waiting parlor is also known as a drawing room.

Pools grow without watering.

There is a lot of yapping about liquor even when some birds can't get any to make them yap.

IT DOESN'T PAY!

It does not pay to exaggerate.

It does not pay to be 'uptage' or 'high-bally'.

It does not pay to talk about yourself all the time.

It does not pay to belittle your nearest and dearest friends.

It does not pay to pretend to be something which you are not.

It does not pay to 'chatter' about things of which you know little or nothing.

It does not pay to be slovenly, unsystematic and disorderly at home or at work.

It does not pay to be sarcastic and abusive. . . it only brands you as an inferior intellect.

It does not pay to go thru the motions and to pretend that you are busy. . . only when the boss is present.

It does not pay to waste your time in the companionship of others who are idle, who have no definite purpose and who lack the mental capacity for constructive thought.

People around here look up when they hear one airplane roaring above. Wonder what they would think if they heard a thousand of them roaring?

Then there is the chap who is always hard up because he gets every cent he earns.

A local man told us his salary goes to five things. Then he explained that he meant his wife and four daughters.

As the salad was being served to the guests, everyone noticed a button in it. "It's nothing," the young daughter said. It probably got knocked off while the salad was dressing.

In Canada nudists were arrested for not having registration cards on their persons. Looks like a swell opportunity for some enterprising tattoo artist.

An ant, it is said, has five noses. No wonder it can locate the picnic grounds almost as soon as the picnicers.

And then there was the new arrival in Satan's domain who began ordering all the other inhabitants about, until Satan said: "Hey, you stop dumping as if you owned this dump."

"I do," replied the hen-pecked man, "my wife gave it to me."

Do not let the other fellow do your thinking for you. Think for yourself.

Penicillin and sulfa seem to cure all human ailments except the tendency to play the darned fool.

People can't get normal minds if they can't get suspicious when their bosses won't let them hear news from the outside world.

The World and the Mud Puddles

WE ARE HELPFUL

The American army always has been different from the armies of other powers. It has been different in viewpoint, in methods and in objectives.

Most armies, for instance, are content with defeating the human enemy confronting them. They are not concerned with the fate, the comfort or the welfare of the civilian populace in the battle areas. The Germans and the Japanese make it military policy to use such peoples for the support of the Axis Armies, even to the extent of draining the blood of children, for transfusions for soldiers, if reports from Odessa are correct.

American armies set out to win their wars, but not to devastate countries needlessly. When they have found the people hungry, they have provided food for them. If the civilian population of an occupied area is ill, doctors and medicines are rushed in. Our army doctors have been among the world's most alert and progressive in conquest of baffling epidemic diseases.

Army Doctors conquered yellow fever, the dreaded "black death" which has devastated cities. They have decreased the miseries from malaria. Their latest conquest has been over typhus.

Germans either didn't care or didn't know how to lick this scourge. They left the city of Naples under a plague. It did worry them, apparently, for the Nazis were leaving the city. What did it matter if the whole civilian population died? Indeed, on departing, they arranged time bombs to insure that many would die.

Immediately upon taking possession of the city, the Americans opened a campaign against typhus. They called in their specialists who began treating the Neapolitans.

The American mania for cleanliness and orderliness exerted itself. Natives were induced to cooperate in clearing away accumulations of decaying matter and rubbish that threatened public health. Steps were taken to protect food from contamination.

To the American these are sensible steps to take, and they have the practical military value of protecting this country's troops.

We know that a man who is of typhus is just as dead as one who gets clipped by an enemy bullet.

It now appears that one of the benefits that will come out of this war will be the application of new methods for control and elimination of typhus. For the moment all phases of our methods are not revealed to the public.

We are officially informed that bugs are good food. This will horrify a lot of people who like shrimp and snails.

The trust "suppressed" a match that could be lit 140 times. What about investigating the patents that have been bought up and suppressed?

All tickets are like New York theatre tickets now. You can't get one at the regular price because somebody bought them for guys who will pay $10 extra.

The simple worrying about unemployment, point to Russia. We had jobs for everybody, too. If everything west of the Mississippi was still a rich, undeveloped wilderness.

Accidents at table. For some unfortunate reason, I have a great many accidents at the table. I suppose I'm just clumsy but I invariably drop some jelly on the cloth, knock over a glass of water or do something similar. When these things occur, I am terribly embarrassed and don't know just how to handle the situation.

Answer: You simply must correct your gauche or become a hermit. Especially at the table, one's breeding is on trial. Deficiencies in training are more prevalent there than elsewhere, so you had better brush up on what's what and learn to handle the implements of the table with much greater care. This you can accomplish with practice and persistence. Occasionally accidents happen even among the most meticulous people and at the best-regulated tables.

Only an intolerant prig can object to an occasional upset glass of water or a spot of food on the tablecloth. A quiet apology to the hostess should be sufficient even for a somewhat serious accident. For a slight mishap, such as dropping a food particle on the tablecloth, say nothing. Regardless of what you do, never mull over the subject and dwell upon it too long. Long-drawn-out apologies make everyone nervous. If you break or seriously injure something which you would like to replace, do so later.

If you continue habitually gauche, you will find yourself a social outcast unless you are famous or charming enough to be classed as an eccentric, who is defiant of conventions.

Question: Is it proper for the man to buy his bride's wedding gown? I think not but a great many of my friends think so. — V. R.

Answer: It is definitely wrong for the bride to expect the groom to supply her wedding dress. This and all of her trousseau should be paid for by her or her family.

Give Affection and Tenderness. But it is with the tenderness of tone, the smile and the way we act that most truly reveal our feeling of affection toward the child. It may be deeper and more subtle still in how rarely we are just what he wants most.

We really prove our affection for the tot, snailabout or adolescent when we talk with him as a real and worthy person and treat him as he would like to be treated, never considering anything he says seriously as something to smile or laugh at, always answering his questions kindly, never making him feel that anything he wishes earnestly to ask us or talk to us about is unworthy of our deepest respect and consideration.

Words Of Wisdom. He will be immortal who liveth till he be stoned by one without fault.—Fuller.

Hints On Etiquette. If you are having a hard time getting along with your associates and boss in business, analyze yourself and see if any of the trouble is your fault. Maybe more tolerance and tact will help you.

Washington Report

Sedition Trial To Be Long Drawnout Event
Meat Eaters Warned Windfall Won't Last
Believe Dies Committee Will Be Continued

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—At long last the preliminaries are over and the government has begun to unfold its evidence against the 27 men and two women accused of having conspired seditionously with the German Reich and the Nazi party to undermine the morale of America's armed forces.

Empanelling the jury took a month in itself, and during that time one of the original 30 defendants died. Fully 1,500 pages of official record have been taken so far and three attorneys have been fined from $20 to $150 for contempt of court.

Alleged activities of the defendants have varied. One, George Sylvester Viereck, failed to register as a German agent. A convicted spy, Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, is another. There are several Bonapartists among them and an assorted group of rabble-rousers, including three accused of fomenting race riots in Detroit.

Most of the defendants have asserted that they were acquainted with only a few of the others and never even heard of some prior to the prosecution.

But the government maintains that however different were the directions of their activities, they had a common objective—the subversion of the morale and the defeat of the United States. They have actively co-operated with each other and with Nazi leaders to play the enemy's game in the United States.

Meat-eaters should enjoy their harvest while they can, because the present ration-free windfall is due to be short-lived.

The OPA which has repeatedly noted that most staples are subject to seasonal market gluts, has now served notice that meat will soon go back on the ration list.

Severity of future rationing will depend upon midwest farm belt weather conditions the next few months. Farmers will consider themselves lucky if their granaries are well stocked this fall. Right now, though, there's too much meat on the market.

To combat the leather shortage, the War Production Board is attempting to induce manufacturers voluntarily to treat soles with oil wax or other substances to make them wear longer.

WPA says that tests indicate that such impregnated soles will outwear ordinary soles by 25 per cent by keeping foreign substances such as water and dirt away from the leather, thus reducing the internal friction among leather fibers.

First WPA wants to see men's street shoes thus treated, because they take the most leather or any type of footwear. It's such an important topic at the moment that the WPA is conducting a special session in Washington to discuss the problem with experts of the industry.

Legislation on disposal of surplus war property seems likely to be indefinitely delayed.

Congress is immensely fond of Will Clayton, surplus war property administrator, and is inclined to let Clayton have a free hand for the present with legislation to come sometime later if necessary.

Senate and House members little fear that Clayton will get so far out on a limb that legislation will become impossible.

The big problem of many at the moment is to work out the policies for disposal of surplus consumer goods. One-fifth of total war surpluses may be in such items, in fact—everything from underwear to electrical gadgets.

Wholesalers and distributors are opposing disposal of such goods and sealed bids for the big boys will obliterate everyone else and corner the supply.

Despite the announcement of Representative Martin Dies (D- Tex.) that he will not seek re-election, the House committee on un-American activities, which he heads, will be continued in the next Congress.

If the Republicans gain a majority in the lower chamber after the November elections, it will mean that the new chairman will be a Republican. And the GOP won't have to look far for its head.

Rep. of New Jersey, Parnell Thomas (R) is conducting a national tour since his organization in 1938 has been a wholehearted supporter of its varied and oftentimes controversial campaigns.

Representative John E. Rankin (D-Mississippi) and his southern brethren have indicated they will fight for its continuance. Republicans are also generally believed to favor its extension.

What People Say

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the draft, "To those men who are released from the armed forces, selective service has the obligation—by law—of returning them to their former jobs if they desire to have such, or otherwise aiding them in obtaining jobs."

LONDON—Lord Selborne, British minister of economy warfare, has been made to recognize that war does not pay. "It is abundantly necessary to make them realize that they have lost the war in a way which the common people of Germany apparently did not realize on the last occasion."

NEW YORK—Edith L. Rockefeller, Jr.—"An equitable solution of the negro problem can be achieved through mutual understanding and forgiveness, progress or agreement supplemented by law when necessary."

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

When a bus driver asked Miss Joseph Montone of Newark, N. J., "Can'tcha read?" she decided then and there to get herself an education.

And a few days ago, Mrs. Montone, 69 years old, graduated from grammar school with high honors.

She has asked her husband, widely known as "Frank the boot-black," who has begun shining shoes for 57 years, for permission to go to high school, but Frank hasn't made up his mind as yet.

You see, Mrs. Montone came to Newark from Italy when she was 13 years old, without any schooling. She had never had time to learn much English or much of anything else.

But when the bus came along and she couldn't read the sign, she had to ask the driver where he was going and make a fool of her in front of all the people with his "Can'tcha read?" she made up her mind that she would be able to read some day.

And she wouldn't only learn to read, but she studied arithmetic and geography and history, and she did.

So now I wouldn't be a bit surprised

Munitions Works Cut-Backs Seen

Defeat Of Germany Will Mean Leveling Off Period, Other Capital
News

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(INS)—Production cut-backs in the nation's munitions program following the defeat of Germany will be substantial but will "not be anywhere near" a reported 50 percent, testimony before the House Appropriations committee disclosed today.

A. F. Hinrichs, acting commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics, told the committee that figures on the reduction of munitions production during the war with Japan have been "wholly overdrawn."

Hinrichs said nine and a half million persons now are engaged in munitions production and this would fall to six and a half million during the "leveling-off" period following the end of European hostilities.

His testimony was given during hearings on the labor-federal security appropriation bill for fiscal 1945.

Other highlights from testimony included:

Bureau Accuracy Praised
Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins endorsed "100 per cent" the accuracy of the bureau of labor statistics cost-of-living index recently criticized by labor. She agreed with committee members that labor had "done itself a great disservice" in attacking the BLS figures.

Hinrichs declared it would be "disastrous" to the work of the BLS to turn over to the OPA evidence of price ceiling violations obtained in confidence from retail stores. He agreed there was "no reason" why similar evidence gathered from consumers could not be made available to the Office of Price Administration.

Birth Rate Declines
Miss Katherine F. Lenoir, chief of the children's bureau, reported that an increase in the nation's birth rate turned into a decline starting last September which she "assumed" will continue. The birth rate, she said, declined from 232 per 1,000 population in September 1943 to 209 in December. Previous factors of early marriage, wartime marriage, she said, are "somewhat less effective as more of our men get overseas and as we go into the later stages of the war."

Many With Disease
Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general, U. S. Public Health Service, disclosed that a substantial portion of 726,000 selective service registrants found infected with syphilis have been inducted into the armed forces.

Through the use of new intensive treatment schedules, Dr. Parran reported, the average syphilis patient is cured or rendered non-infectious in less than 30 days.

Farm Situation Okay
Paul McNutt, war manpower commission, told the committee he did not consider the farm labor situation critical, asserting that there are twelve million 200,000 agricultural workers on farms to-day out of a total of sixty-five million industrial and farm employees.

MERCER, May 29.—A tractor, accidentally reversed by his son who was driving it, killed Donald Pyle, 42, of East Lackawannock township, almost instantly Saturday afternoon.

Pyle and his 14-year-old son, Norman, were spraying trees, when Pyle, who was standing behind the tractor, was hit.

He leaves his wife, the former Elsie Humes; two sons, Donald Jr. and Norman; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pyle; four brothers, and four sisters, two of whom, Mrs. Lillian Patton and Mrs. Norman Shorts, live in New Castle.

NEW CASTLE MAN GETS HONOR BUTTON

BATON ROUGE, La., May 29.—Albert Theophilus, formerly a resident of New Castle, was among those receiving a button emblematic of an honorable discharge from the United States Army at a recent presentation at the Standard Oil company of Louisiana in Baton Rouge, where Theophilus is a laboratory helper.

Theophilus, who has been with Standard for eight months, was discharged from the air force on September 8, 1943, after three years of service. His discharge was due to an injury sustained while in the air corps.

Ladies Chorus Heard In Two Concerts In Camp Reynolds
Sunday Afternoon

New Castle talent opened the Camp Reynolds amphitheatre for the summer season Sunday afternoon, May 28, when the New Castle Young Ladies Chorus presented a concert there at 6 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the chorus presented another concert in Service Club Number 2. Both concerts were well attended and both received enthusiastically.

The chorus is under the direction of William Richards with the Misses Betty Fowler and Jean Rengle as accompanists. In addition to the choral numbers presented, there were vocal solos by Lena May McConnell, Ann Mann and Mary Solomon, and the Gritty Sisters in duet numbers. Miss Irma Waggoner was heard in a piano solo. An orchestra composed of Thelma Cwynar, Irma Waggoner, Thelma Powell, Tony Dominicus, Charles Farone and Curtis Powell had several spots on the program.

The weather for the outdoor performance was ideal and the benches were full with many service men standing. The chorus has been invited to make another appearance at Camp Reynolds.

Stimson Announces Curtailed of Air Defense Set-Up

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Reductions in air defense installations within the country has been announced by the War department. The danger of enemy bombing attacks on America has not yet passed, however, the War department warns.

Secretary of War Stimson speaks of the defense reduction as a "calculated risk" that is justified by the need for power overseas. Soldiers and air defense equipment released by the closing of aircraft warning centers will be sent abroad or absorbed into installations for the training of fighter pilots.

joy his crudest efforts at creation and expression, when we are courteous to him and his playmates and friends, not saying or doing anything that would needlessly embarrass him before them. We prove our affection to the young child as we keep trying constantly to put ourselves in his place so as to see a little as he sees, understand a little as he understands, and feel a little as he feels.

We are best able to achieve this affectionate relationship to the growing child when we have from his early years onward settled a few essential controls. Otherwise, we constantly scold and annoy him, and he us, and we rob him and us of mutual enjoyment. Affection without adequate control of the child is worthless, while control without affection renders both control and affection less potent. One of the best arguments for training the tot early in the meaning of NO, is that he might gain the love he deserves. NEW HIGHWAY BEING BUILT

Route 18 From Hermitage To Clarksville Is Being Reconstructed By State

Work on the new stretch of highway on route 18, between Hermitage and Clarksville, is being pushed rapidly, with the weather favoring such construction. Gangs of workers and an amazing number of pieces of highway equipment are at work in an effort to cause as little inconvenience to this important highway as possible.

Apparently the new stretch will be an "airline" highway, for most of the tortuous curves are being eliminated and the highway pushed through farm lands. This highway serves Camp Reynolds, and for the past year has been a busy one.

The detour from Hermitage to a point a mile or so from Clarksville is a good one and motorists are inconvenienced, but slightly. When completed the stretch will be a modern piece of military highway.

Warns Governors West Will Battle To Hold Industry

HERSHEY, Pa., May 29.—(INS)—Governor Earl Warren of California, who in just four weeks will keynote the Republican national convention, served notice today that his state and others will fight to retain their war-time industrial gains in the postwar reconversion period.

The rugged Californian, a ranking potential candidate for the GOP vice presidential nomination, gave the 36th annual governors' conference a declaration which is expected to be affirmed in his Chicago keynote address.

Mississippi River Reported Dropping

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—(INS)—The Mississippi river, which broke through a second levee to flood 28,000 acres of rich farmland in west central Illinois, was reported dropping today from near record crests along a 100-mile stretch above St. Louis. Crops in the area are valued at one million dollars.

Meanwhile, 300 persons in Canton, Mo., remained homeless as six feet of water covered the lower areas of the town.

The flood occurred when the Des Moines river, carrying Iowa flood waters, raised the Mississippi to near record levels.

Red Cross workers were immunizing Canton residents against typhoid.

TOO 'HENERVATING'
WASHINGTON, D. C.—(INS)—“Backyard poultry keepers” have been warned by the agriculture Department that coffee grounds are not good feed for chickens. The higher the percentage of grounds in table scrap feed mixtures, the slower the growth from baby chicks to chickens, poultry raisers were told.

Yank Accounts For Three Dead Germans

Private Michael Jowder Of Pennsylvania Does What He Is Told

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy (Delayed)—May 21.—(INS)—From a mission to set up and ambush and kill or capture any Germans in the vicinity, Pvt. Michael Jowder, Phoenixville, Pa., attached to an infantry battalion on the Fifth Army front in Italy, returned triumphantly, satisfied that he shared the honor of eliminating three Nazis.

En route to their rallying point the nine-man patrol had their journey cut short by hitting a trip wire, which in turn set off a flare. This was a signal to enemy gunners nearby who opened up with a barrage of automatic fire. Jowder instinctively rolled into a ditch and watched the muzzle bursts of the enemy guns, which he estimated to be approximately 50 yards distance.

Jowder and two men opened fire simultaneously with their Garand, Browning automatic and tommy guns. Two hostile knicks were silenced and a third knocked out.

When the action was over, they counted three dead Nazis.

The patrol returned, bringing back two slightly wounded buddies.

“I knew I had to keep my head and the only way we could return alive was to knock out the krauts, so I whispered to those within hearing distance to open up,” the private remarked.

Service Is Held At County Honor Roll On Sunday

Following the Memorial Day exercises held in Greenwood cemetery and on the public square Sunday afternoon, May 28, a short memorial service was held at the county honor roll on the court house grounds. The service was conducted by the officers and men of the 16th regiment, Pennsylvania State Guard.

The regimental band played a number, a volley was fired into the air, taps was played by the bugler and the band played the Star Spangled Banner. The service was short but it was impressive. It was a testimonial from men in the home front service to those who have given their all in the present war.

Marshall-King At Conference

Army And Navy Chiefs Attend Governors' Confab At Hershey, Pa., Today

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HERSHEY, Pa., May 29.—Gen. George C. Marshall and Admiral Ernest J. King, the nation's army and navy chiefs, arrived at Hershey today to give the 36th governors' conference an "off the record" pre-invasion report on the war.

Marshall, army chief of staff, and King, commander in chief of U. S. fleet, were presented to the 39 official state representatives at a luncheon immediately following their arrival at the swank Hershey hotel.

Their presence at the conference pointed up the war phases of the four-day meeting which earlier touched mainly on the problems of industrial reconversion with Gov. Earl Warren of California warning that his state and others will fight to hold their war time economic gains.

Refugees Flock Back To Anzio

FIFTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Italy, May 29.—(INS)—The vanguard of an anticipated influx of 10,000 Italian refugees began flocking back today from nearby hills to the former Anzio beachhead sector.

Hundreds reappeared at their former homes with stories of having spent weeks, even months in the hills and hills on diets of beans and herbs.

American military government officials moved into the newly-captured town of Norma with four tons of food to start the rehabilitation program.

In the past, British seamen have attempted to attract attention of aircraft and ships by flashing a beam reflected from an ordinary mirror—a difficult business at any distance.

The new British device has a small foresight and a central focus. Two lines on the polished surface insure accuracy.

“We want all ships’ lifeboats to carry them,” an official of the British Ministry of War Transport told International News Service.

NEW 'SPECS' FOR RED ARMY FORCES

LONDON (INS)—British-made spectacles have been forwarded to Russia for use of Red army soldiers, the ministry of supplies announces. The “specs” will have plastic lenses—a new product recently made available to British citizens.

Shelter Stations For Service Men Are Established

Wolves Club Starts Project To Aid
'Pickup' Of Service Men
Here

Picking up a service man on the highway comes under the heading of patriotic courses these days. Realizing this the Wolves Club of New Castle has gone another step and has made three shelter stations which will be located at strategic points in the city where service men can rest or get in out of the rain while waiting for a pickup.

The first of these pickup stations will be placed this afternoon at the corner of West Washington and Atlantic avenue where route 18 turns south. The second one will be located at the corner of Jefferson and Grant street at the intersection of routes 422-224 and 18. The location of the third one has not yet been decided upon.

The shelters are sturdily made 6x4 feet in size with a roof over them. The benches is a comfortable one and the entire thing painted in blue and white. On each will be a sign, "New Castle Service Men's Pickup Station" and a smaller sign showing it was placed through the courtesy of the Wolves Club.

The project has been championed by James V. Lombardo, program chairman of the Wolves Club with President Paul Failla and the membership co-operating.

When you see a service man in one of the pickup stations waiting for a ride in the direction you are going, give him a lift.

Minister Given Workhouse Term For Beating Wife

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 29.—(INS)—The Rev. Elmer Schott, 53 today was sentenced to one year in the Allegheny county workhouse for aggravated assault and battery in the beating of his wife, Garnet with a miniature baseball bat in the Methodist parsonage at Vanderbilt last January 4.

The clergyman, pastor of charges at Vanderbilt, Jacobs Creek and Wesley Chapel, was convicted last March 9 and had since been refused a new trial. He resigned from his pastorate immediately upon being found guilty.

The minister had pleaded "not guilty by reason of insanity." During the trial the prosecution claimed the Reverend Schott had so severely maced his wife that he virtually scalped her. She required treatment for 27 lacerations of the head when admitted to Connelville hospital.

Young Woman Cannot Remember Own Name

CHICAGO, May 29.—(INS)—An attractive red-headed young woman who was unable to remember her name when taken to the psychopathic hospital tentatively was identified today as the widow of the late Potter D'Ossay Palmer, of the wealthy and prominent Chicago family.

The mention of Palmer's name however, failed to bring any reaction from her.

Young Palmer, grandson of the original Potter Palmers, Chicago society leaders, married the former Pluma Louise Lowery Abateello, a waitress, in Florida, in December 1938.

After his death in May 1939, she acquired another name by marrying Ellsworth Struck of Toledo, O.

Cards in her purse indicated that since then she again had married this time Jack Moran, who police said is the son of George "Bugs" Moran, prohibition era hoodlum.

Travel Rush Is Indicated Over Holiday

People are traveling over the Memorial day holiday period, but few of them are using their own cars to do it.

Standing passengers probably won't be too unusual according to the number of phone calls which have been coming in to the P. and L. E. office, the agent stated.

Judging by Sunday's travel, the Pennsylvania Railroad is expecting a 10 per cent increase over regular travel, the agent said.

The break between Sunday and Tuesday, and the fact that many plants and some offices are operating tomorrow means somewhat less travel, and much shorter trips, however. Reports from Pittsburgh

To them, the importance of the railroad in bringing growth to their city and prosperity to its people is defined in the real terms of tons of coal and pounds of potatoes delivered.

Today, in our job for war, we, of the Baltimore & Ohio, are also planning for peace. New methods of operation are making for faster freight service. Passenger travel, with improved facilities, will be a source of even greater enjoyment. B & O service—a modern means of transport—will fit the needs of busier post-war communities.

Fleet Massed For Invasion

U. S. Assembles Gigantic
Naval Strength In Great Britain To Support
Troops

By JOHN W. JARRELL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE UNITED STATES Navy. Somewhere in Britain, May 29—Anticipating the greatest battle in its entire colorful history, the American navy was prepared today for its vital part in the storming of Hitler-held Europe.

It is no secret that the U. S. navy has amassed a tremendous striking power in Britain. Every type ship and all devastating secret weapons designed to give plenty of trouble to Hitler's hordes are here.

Plan Worked Out
The American naval leaders have carefully worked out a plan of action for the navy's job is to get American, British and Canadian troops onto the continent. To protect the landing craft, it must soften up the German coastal defenses. Moreover, the navy has the job of hauling supplies.

That there will be a titanic sea-battle before and during the landings is the unanimous belief in Britain. Some circles, though quietly confident of the invasion's success, are sure the landings will be no "pink tea" affair.

The Nazis are expected to stage a last desperate effort to stop the invasion, banking on the belief that by hurling back the allied legions they may be able to induce the United States to negotiate more acceptable peace terms for Germany.

Therefore naval minds are anticipating the most savage fighting against the warships, principally by enemy submarines, motor torpedo boats and light craft, as well as aircraft and shore batteries.

Look For Tricks
The probability that the Germans have some tricks up their sleeves is not taken lightly, but our navy has them, too. Moreover, it has the ships, equipment and manpower to back them up.

Of course, one cannot divulge the size of the American fleet in these waters. But it can be described as breathtaking.

The Americans are working in closest cooperation with the royal navy. Among the U. S. officers are top-notch naval minds who have participated in the South Pacific's record-breaking operations. It is a great mélange of navy minds.

Navies Cooperating

Not only is there cooperation between the American and British navies, there is a similar feeling between the U. S. army and navy. Both know the other fellow has a supremely tough job, and each knows his success depends on the other chap.

This is best exemplified by a job veteran of Morocco, Sicily and Italy who has the difficult job of handling a landing craft.

"Those doughboys really have guts. I take my hat off to them," he said.

On the other hand, the soldiers feel the same way about the navy which brought them safely through sub-infested areas.

Catholic Graduates Religious Exercises

Large Crowd Attends Exercises And Hears Rev. Fr. Edmund F.
Rowan Of Pittsburgh

"Civilization cannot be good unless it loves and serves God." So said the Rev. Fr. Edmund F. Rowan of the Church of the Nativity, Pittsburgh, and former pastor of St. Monica's church, Wampum, Sunday evening, when he addressed a large group of Catholic graduates at religious exercises held in St. Mary's church at 7:45 o'clock.

"You graduates have completed your studies and are going out into a troubled world," Father Rowan continued, "a world approaching a critical crisis. There will be times when problems arise and the world seems unstable, but at this time in your lives, more than ever, do not hesitate to turn to God for assistance, for with prayer will come courage and strength. Trouble has come into the world chiefly because it has forgotten God," but in uniting in prayer, courage and strength will be yours together with a staunch faith.

Father Rowan concluded by extending congratulations on behalf of the Catholic Priest Forum, who sponsored the religious exercises for the graduates and also the dinner served earlier in the evening.

Following the processional, the junior choir sang Ave Maria, and the litany was recited with Rev. Fr. C. Streiff, pastor of St. Joseph's church, leading Prayers to the Holy Ghost were recited, and the hymn "Come Holy Ghost," was sung.

At the conclusion of Father Rowan's address, the hymn, "Remember Holy Mary," was sung, by the junior choir.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and the Te Deum brought the religious services to a close. Rev. Fr. James William M. Pisarcik, pastor of St. Michael's church, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Francis Kuczyński, of the Madonna church, sub-deacon, Rev. Fr. Francis P. King, of St. Mary's was master of ceremonies.

Other priests assisting in the sanctuary were: Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, of St. Mary's; Rev. Fr. John Unger, of St. Joseph's; Rev. Fr. Albert M. Intero, of St. Vitus; Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarter, pastor of St. Mary's church, and Rev. Fr. Fred Atkinson, St. Monica's, Wampum.

Prior to the religious exercises, a delicious dinner was served in St. Mary's auditorium, and during this time the Catholic Forum hour broadcast was heard. Sunday meals were presented to each graduate, marking the places at the nicely arranged tables.

Federal Workers Given Warning On Political Activity

Immediate Discharge For Federal Employee Found Dabbling
In Politics

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(INS)—The United States Civil Service Commission warned some three million federal employees today that they are prohibited by law from political activity, even to the extent of participating in a parade or demonstration at a party convention.

On the eve of the 1944 campaign, the commission sent letters to the heads of all executive departments and agencies, enclosing an anti-political activity poster to be displayed conspicuously for the attention of federal workers.

The last general distribution of the poster was made on Aug. 25, 1942, just prior to the bi-elections of that year.

Face Job Loss

The commission warned that federal workers and employees of state agencies financed with federal funds are restrained from "partisan activity" in connection with municipal, county, state or national elections.

The penalty for violation is immediate discharge of the employee. The political activity poster assured federal workers of their right to vote as they choose and to express political opinion. It listed the following specific taboos:

Serving on or for any political committee; soliciting or handling political contributions; engaging in political conferences while on duty; organizing or conducting or addressing a political rally; serving in any position of election offices; publishing or being connected editorially or managerially with any newspaper generally known as partisan from a political standpoint; distributing campaign literature or material; initiating or circulating political petitions.

Nephew Of Local Veteran Performs Notable War Feat

Lt. R. H. Blewitt Of British Army Stretches Longest Single Wire Strand In World

Lt. R. H. Blewitt, of School House, Castle Bromwich, Eng., a nephew of City Fireman R. Harold Blewitt, of Laurel Boulevard, past commander of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, has learned through a clipping from an English paper of the notable feat performed by Lt. Blewitt and his men in the Chin Hills front of Burma.

The story goes back to the last monsoon season, where they erected the longest single bay of telegraph wire in the world to keep communications open in that section.

In torrential rain, driving up a precipitous road, the signalman waged a successful battle against the elements, to extend communications into Burma. The longest single bay, erected by Lt. Blewitt and his group from the Royal Corps of Signals is one and one-third miles long. Before the wires were hoisted aloft, a swathe twenty yards wide and had to be hacked through the jungle. As fast as they made some progress against the matted vegetation, cleared areas lower down became overgrown. The men had to hew their way with machetes. Snake serums were in constant use. Finally everything was in readiness. The wires had to be placed exactly parallel to avoid contact. They were hauled up into the air by block and tackle, and ten men on either side of the bay with binoculars and field telephones adjusted the tension by inches. In the slightest breeze, the estimated swing of the wires is three-quarters of a mile. Special swinging insulators taking up the strain. One of the difficulties encountered was in getting supplies to the men. Eight tons of rice flour and tinned foods had to be manhandled 2,000 feet down a hillside, while other rations were dropped by plane.

ASSOCIATION ACTIVE
Pennsylvania's dairy herd improvement associations now number 119, according to Charles R. Gearhart of the Pennsylvania State College, who is state supervisor of the organization.

THE ARMY AND NAVY NEED NEARLY EVERYTHING WE CAN MAKE

They need vast quantities of telephones, switchboards and cable—to say nothing of many secret electronic devices as well.

And their needs grow greater as our forces advance.

Peace-time producers of telephone equipment are engaged almost exclusively in the manufacture of electronic and other war communications equipment for the Army and Navy.

And we have just about used up the "margins" we built into our telephone plant.

We're working central offices at maximum capacity.

We're using every telephone facility we can put our hands on.

This is why there must be waiting lists for telephone service—waiting lists that are lengthening from week to week.

Dodgers Inspired By Eddie Basinski

Brooklyn Trims Cincinnati

YANKEES DRUB BROWNIES TWICE

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are being saved from occupancy of the National League cellar today by three things: (1) Second baseman Eddie Basinski, (2) Outfielder Dixie Walker, (3) The Chicago Cubs.

With the considerable aid of Basinski's infield play and Walker's budgeon, the Dodgers rapped out a twin killing over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday 8 to 7 and 3 to 2. The Bums used six pitchers and two catchers in the opener. In the nightcap, Rube Melton went the route for the first time in five starts, turning in a six-hit job.

Braves Top Cubs
The Cubs also heartened the teetering Dodgers with an obliging twin loss to the Boston Braves, 7 to 3 and 7 to 4. The Cubs kept anchored in last place.

The New York Giants and St. Louis Cards split a twin bill, the Cards winning the first, 8 to 0, and dropping the second, 3 to 1. Big Mort Cooper limited the Giants to three hits and fanned ten in the opener.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won the first game, 4 to 0, behind the six-hit pitching of Rip Sewell, but lost the second to the Philadelphia Phillies as Nick Stronovich was hammered for an 8 to 2 loss.

Yanks Win Two

In the American League, the New York Yankees hung on to the lead with a double victory over the St. Louis Browns, 6 to 3 and 6 to 2. The Senators, however, could have made second place without help. After beating out the Detroit Tigers in the opener, 4 to 2, on Johnny Niggeling's seven-hitter, the Senators went on to take a terrible 15 to 2 drubbing.

The Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland Indians split, the A's taking the opener, 4 to 3, and the Indians the second game, 5 to 3. The Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox grappled in a twin bill, with the Red Sox sweeping both games, 6 to 4 and 4 to 2.

CHICAGO, May 29.—(INS)—Hammering Henry Armstrong, who meets Willie Joyce Friday night in the Chicago stadium, tacitly admitted today that he never hopes to regain the heights he occupied when he held three ring titles.

"I'm fighting for money now," he said. "It would be nice to recapture my lightweight or welter title, but gate receipts are the thing now."

The Los Angeles battler stands to pick up around $18,000 from his bout Friday night. He expects to weigh in at 140.

He's in Demand

BOB WESTFALL, captain and full-back of the Michigan team in 1941, may have a busy football season ahead.

Westfall, given a medical discharge from the Army Air Forces, plans to return to the U. of Michigan this summer and now could be eligible to play war-time football there despite the fact he has had three years of college play. The Detroit Lions of the pro league, which club picked Westfall as their top choice in the 1941 football draft, would like to have him play with them. It could be possible, observers point out for Westfall to play a few games with the Wolverines at the start of the season and join the Lions later.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

For a fellow who was scratched off the list 10 years ago, Ollie Vanek is doing alright. He's managing and playing center field for the Cardinals farm at Allentown in the Inter-State League. That's a rather strenuous job for a corpse, that's what the medics told Vanek. Ten years ago they examined his pain-wrecked body and said his baseball career was over. "If he lives," they could not diagnose his ailment and held out no hope for him. So Vanek, who had broken into baseball two years earlier, gave it up and stuck to the job of high school coaching in David City, Neb. An auto accident saved him. A car driven by a relative turned over and Vanek was rushed to a hospital. His ailment was diagnosed as dread pneumonia. Two operations and seven weeks in the hospital left him only a shell of a man.

But he fought his way back to health and moved to St. Louis to complete his education. He began to dabble with baseball as he regained his strength and the Cardinals signed him for their Decatur farm in 1937. The next year he was named manager in the farm system and has been at it ever since. Last year he managed Lynchburg of the Piedmont League, batted .304 and made the All-Star team. It's a pretty lively "corpse" you'll find out there roving center field and managing the Allentown club.

Coch Foy Flumery has quite a baseball team at Northwestern University this year according to Boston reports. First of all there is pitcher Frankie Rosato who can hurl effectively with both his right and left hands. Says Flumery: "We are working out a stance that will allow Frankie to take his windup on the mound while at the same time preventing the batter from knowing with what hand—right or left—the ball will be thrown." The team also boasts a one-armed outfielder—Eddie Pytko and five veterans of World War II.

Indian Slugger Making Good

PAT SEEREY

When it comes time for allocation of awards for outstanding rookies in the major leagues this year you'll just have to give a nod to James Patrick Seerey, the big Irishman who patrols the outfield for the Cleveland Indians and propels long hits to the same outfield when he reverses his working procedure.

Seerey may be a pseudo-rookie for he did come up last June. Given a chance to play regular, Seerey began to pound the ball and now today he is leading the American league race (such as it is) in home runs and has been one of the more effective choppers on the "Tabe roster." "Pat" for that is what he's called, is a product of American Legion baseball.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 29—(INS)—The wolves who howl when their favorite hitter strikes out in the pinch at the plate are the same ones who could demand that a jockey be torn limb from limb when he fails to get home in front in a horse race. Their number is legion and the breed increases with the new season on sports. Especially on racing, where a man has his deuce going and sees it lost by a nose.

Yet the jockey who comes from farthest behind and who wins more close ones than all the rest is sitting most solid with his stable which happens to be the leading stable in the country at the moment. This is the Calumet outfit which probably will win a half million or more in purses this year and crack its own record.

Praise for Jockey

"Sure, he blows some close ones," said trainer Ben Jones in Belmont. But show me a jockey who doesn't lose, and as far as we are concerned, McCree is just about everything that a jockey should be.

"We didn't take a two-year contract on him last spring because we liked the way he parted his hair," said the Missouri dirt farmer who currently is regarded as the outstanding trainer in the land.

"There has never been a finger pointed at McCree in all his career as a rider. His integrity is beyond question. Also horses run for him and he is a fine all-around jockey."

"All this criticism about his coming from behind makes little sense," said Jones. "If we have a horse that wants to go to the front he rides that way."

Makes Mistakes

Jones admitted that McCree might make mistakes, but so do all the rest of the riders, he said.

"And I'll tell you this," he added, "any time we have a horse that McCree can't ride, the horse will stay in the barn."

McCree has ridden for a number of stables. But his first association with a multi-dollar outfit is this one with Calumet and he is making the most of it.

He has convinced Jones, a horseman from way back, that he knows horses and knows how to ride them. He has a way with mounts that gets the best out of them where others fail and while he sometimes causes epidemics of heart failure with his from-behind finishes, he wins and that is about all his stable or the bettors can ask of him or any other rider.

Two Brilliant Victories

McCree rode Pensive to victories in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness and will probably come busting down there in front on him in the Belmont stakes June 3 to complete the sweep of the triple crown.

Jones explained that McCree's reputation through the years was the motivating influence in his being signed as the Calumet stable's first string rider.

McCree has proved his honesty and his horsemanship, and that's what Jones wanted.

Football Coaches Are In Session

NEW YORK, May 29—(INS)—The American Football Coaches Association, in session in New York to consider wartime gridiron problems and postwar plans, was scheduled today to hear pleas for changes in rules of the game "frozen" for the duration.

However, little action was expected concerning rules other than formal endorsement of the "gentlemen's agreement" reached by Western Conference coaches to abolish intentional out-of-bounds kickoffs during this year.

Lou Little of Columbia university was expected to make a strong plea for changes in the wartime code, but Fritz Crisler, head coach at Michigan, said he is personally opposed to any changes except by legalized authority.

MILLS DEFEATS DEANEY

Pirates Obtain Veteran Pitcher

PITTSBURGH, May 29—(INS)—Pittsburgh fans today awaited their first glimpse sometime next month of the Pirates' newest pitching acquisition, veteran right-hander Ray Starr, obtained on waiver from the Cincinnati Reds for whom he won 11 and lost 10 last year.

The 38-year-old (and draft exempt) Starr, who stands six feet one and weighs 180 pounds, is a native of Sandoval, Ill. He has been with the Reds since 1941 and incidentally, his first game for them was against the Pirates. He lost that one 1-0.

STOCK MARKET

Price Changes Small As Stocks Hover Around Saturday's Closing

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS)—The stock market held steady today in light dealings. Most issues hovered around Saturday's close with price changes small and unimportant but many stocks hardened and made new highs.

With financial and commodity exchanges closed throughout the United States closed tomorrow, Memorial Day, and many traders absent until Wednesday stocks showed a tendency to lapse into dullness.

Amusements, rubbers, rails and selected issues were fairly active but aviation, building shares, chemicals, coppers, foods, mining stocks and utilities were quiet.

Steady and motors did little either way. Warner Bros., International Tel. and Tel. and Texas Co. rose slightly on scattered bursts of strength. Park & Tilford which sold off nearly a point at the opening steadied on light dealings and regained part of its loss.

Pivotal stocks were quiet but held firm. Curb stocks were quiet but firm. Rail bonds were in demand.

Blind And Deaf Rumors Are False

Rumors American Soldiers
By Thousands Going
Blind And Deaf,
Branded False

CHICAGO, May 29—(INS)—Rumors that American soldiers by the "thousands" are losing their sight or hearing in World War II are branded false Saturday by Brig. Gen. Charles C. Hillman, U. S. Army.

"Misinformation about blindness and deafness as a military problem is being circulated at this time," the general said in an article in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. "There have been rumors to the effect that many thousands of cases of deafness among servicemen may be anticipated as a result of this war, that every combat may expect to suffer serious impairment of hearing, that there are thousands of war blinded and that a gigantic breeding program for deaf to guide blind soldiers will be necessary to meet the demand."

"Fortunately all these rumors are untrue."

Bound To Be Some
The medical officers stated that as of March, 1944, only 73 cases of blindness were registered with the office of the Surgeon General, and that the U. S. veterans administration reported, as of January 1944, that 99 veterans had varying degrees of blindness. Of the 86 discharged with blindness from the Army, 17 were totally blind.

General Hillman admitted there would be an increase in deafness from 20 per 100,000 men in World War One to 34 per 100,000 in this conflict, but added that "not as many cases have developed as might have been expected from the increased hazards in this war due to blast and noise."

B-2 and C-2 coupons expire June 1st.

Gasoline dealers are not permitted to accept "R" gasoline coupons from non-highway users at filling stations.

The regulations governing "E" non-highway coupons remain unchanged.

These coupons may be accepted at filling stations so long as they are not exchanged for gasoline delivered into the fuel tank of a motor vehicle.

Holders of R coupons who have been accustomed to buying their gasoline at filling stations will be able to continue doing so by simply exchanging their "R" coupons for "E" coupons at their local boards.

TIRES

Motorists are cautioned that while they will no longer be required to have their tires inspected periodically, they are to retain their present tire inspection records in order that they may be able to secure tire replacements, and meet other requirements of the regulation.

Persons with supplemental rations are now eligible for Grade I tires. However, boards are still limited to a certain quota, and issuances are made accordingly. Close screening of applications is necessary in order to assure granting tires to those most eligible.

Auto Equipment Ban Is Eased

WASHINGTON, May 29—(INS)—The WPB Saturday relaxed restrictions on the manufacture of many types of automotive maintenance equipment in order to maintain present vehicles in good condition.

In the case of 17 items, the limitation on production was raised from 20 to 100 percent of the 1941 output. One hundred percent of the 1941 production also was authorized for other items formerly limited to 75 percent of the base period, and 50 percent output was approved for another list of equipment.

Among the items on which production limitations were raised are battery chargers, magneto rechargers, battery testers, clutch rebuilding equipment, piston regrinders, tire pumps, speedometer testing machines and wheel straightening equipment.

WPB officials said some 200 manufacturers throughout the country will boost their production rate as result of the action.
